

SHOT BY THIEVES.

Marshal Houston Instantly Killed at Wagoner, I. T.

In a Fight With a Gang of Horsethieves.

ONE ROBBER SHOT.

They Undertook to Hold Up Cherokee Money.

WAGONER, Ind. Ter., June 20.—Last Sunday a posse of United States marshals and the Cook brothers, noted horse thieves and desperadoes, had an engagement about twelve miles east of here. It was rumored the Cooks were in hiding near Dick Crittenden's place, awaiting his return from Tahlequah, to kill and rob him. He hurriedly started to the place with seven armed men, but were unexpectedly fired upon from ambush by the desperadoes before reaching their supposed hiding place.

Sequoyah Houston, a Cherokee marshal, was instantly killed, and one of the bandits, it is thought, was badly wounded.

The Cook boys have for several months been terrorizing the country surrounding country, having stolen over fifty horses within the last two months. A large posse of citizens left here at once to run them down, and news of a battle is anxiously awaited, as there are determined men on both sides.

JIM COOK SHOT TO PIECES.

Leader of a Famous Band of Horse Thieves Fatally Wounded.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., June 20.—Yesterday afternoon the officers brought in Jim Cook, shot nearly to pieces as is possible to be and live. He, his brother and another person undertook to hold up the Cherokee money on the road between Tahlequah and Fort Gibson last Sunday evening. The Cherokee guards got onto the plot and went in advance of the money. In the fight that ensued one of the guards was killed and Cook shot in numerous places. He and his friend crossed the Arkansas river here yesterday morning, and some marshals from this place went in pursuit. Cook was too badly shot to escape, and was left by his friends to fall in the hands of the law.

WHITE CAPS IN KANSAS.

John Bielman and His Wife Cruelly Treated by Masked Men.

STROCK CITY, Kan., June 20.—Another sensation was created in this county last night by the action of a band of White Caps, in shooting Mr. John Bielman, and probably fatally wounding his wife at their house, south of Cottonwood Falls.

Mr. Bielman and wife were engaged in reading when a knock was heard upon the door. Not suspecting danger, the call was answered by Bielman, when he was seized by two of the masked men. Being a powerful man, he succeeded in confining the struggle to the inside of the house. A desperate fight ensued, during which Bielman was shot in the side, the ball passing out at the top of the right shoulder.

His wife, in her endeavors to assist him, was struck over the head by a club in the hands of some one of the masked party. The wounds of Bielman are pronounced not serious, but those of his wife will probably terminate fatally. During the melee Bielman succeeded in tearing a mask from the face of one of his assailants, which has led to the arrest of eight well-known men of the county, now confined in the county jail. No cause is assigned for the dastardly act, except that it is the outcome of a series of long-standing disputes over petty thieving that has been going on in that section of the county for some time past.

After the Turner Gang.

MUSKOGEE, Ind. Ter., June 20.—The squad of marshals sent out from here Wednesday to relieve the marshals who had the Turner band of horse-thieves corralled, has returned. The band, when it saw how it was outnumbered, ran away. The officers brought in 22 head of cattle and about eight head of horses, and three negro suspects.

LIVE STOCK BOARDS.

Convention of Representatives From the Several States Begins in Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—A convention of representatives of live stock sanitary boards of the several states began at the agricultural department yesterday. Professor L. Stockbridge, a member of the Massachusetts live stock board, presided, and A. M. Brownlee of the Illinois live stock commission acted as secretary. T. J. Turner, state veterinarian of Missouri, read a paper on the necessity for uniform legislation in the different states for the prevention of the spread of cattle disease, and Charles P. Lyman of Massachusetts and Dr. Robert Ward of Baltimore discussed the paper.

Work Must Be Resumed.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 20.—The receiver of the Loomis Coal company, controlling mines at Bevier, Mo., and other points has been directed by the United States court, under whose orders he is acting, to resume work at once, importing non-union miners if necessary. In consequence the United States deputy marshals of this district are being concentrated at Bevier to prevent trouble.

KANSAS CROP REPORTS.

Sergeant Jennings Gives a Report of the General Conditions.

Sergeant Jennings, of the weather bureau, has issued the following crop report:

"Conditions.—The eastern division, eastern half of the middle and western half of the western divisions have generally been well-watered this week, while in the western half of the middle and eastern half of the western divisions the rain was light. The temperature has ranged close to the normal, except in the southern counties, where it is above. The sunshine has been ample.

"Results.—In general the week has given fine growing weather, and as a result crops have greatly improved, corn standing easily at the head, with flax, apples, potatoes, pastures and millet showing a decided improvement. Wheat harvest is well under way in the south and has begun in the central counties; the yield is light, but the quality is unusually good. Timothy and clover are short. Cherries are abundant."

ARTZ DEPOSED.

Commonwealths Fire the Late Kansas Adjutant General.

KANSAS CITY, June 20.—The Colorado division of the commonwealth army is sadly demoralized. It has progressed just twenty-three miles on its long and dreary march to Washington and has lost another commander. General Artz was deposed yesterday by unanimous vote. He was accused of having diverted the funds of the organization to his own use, of having abandoned his men in time of trouble and disaster, of having broken his word of honor and of having committed all sorts of flagrant offenses against the commonwealth code. As he was not present to answer the charges, all of them went by default and the so lately highly popular chief was unanimously fired and Captain O. E. Wagner was elected to fill his place.

THE SUN DANCE HORRORS.

Awful Torture Which the Cree Bucks Endure.

HAYRE, Mont., June 20.—The Cree sun dance has just been concluded here, after going on for three days. Every sheriff in the state has been instructed to prevent the dance at all hazard, but there was no interference here. Three braves were hung up by thongs thrust into slits in their breasts, slashed by Little Egg, the chief. All fainted before the ordeal was over.

A young buck had slits cut in his shoulders and to the inserted thongs were tied four buffalo skulls which he dragged after him. Eighty pieces of flesh were cut from his arms to be kept as tokens.

AT THE MEDICAL COLLEGE.

Arrangements Made in the Building Now Occupied By It.

The third story of the new medical college will be used as a dissecting room. On the second floor the east rooms will be used for micrological laboratories, and the west rooms for a lecture room and a faculty room. On the first floor, the two west rooms will be thrown together and a small waiting room cut off in the rear of this large room. This large room will be the main lecture room.

On the east side Dr. D. B. Colcord will have his chemical and pharmaceutical laboratories. The front room will be the chemistry laboratory and the rear one a special laboratory. Back of these rooms is an addition, which will be used to keep the chemical and medical supplies.

In the basement the free dispensary will be located. This branch of the institution has become one of the important features.

FIFTEEN CRAYON PICTURES

Of Kansas Attorney Generals Up to the Present Time.

Attorney General Little has made provision to preserve for Kansas the faces of her attorney generals since the organization of the state. An artist was given a commission to make life size crayon portraits of the fifteen officers who have occupied the position of attorney general, and the pictures have been completed and are being hung in the office of the attorney general today.

The portraits are of the following men who have held the office: Ben F. Simpson, Chas. Chadwick, Sam A. Stinson, Warren W. Guthrie, J. D. Brumbaugh, Geo. H. Hoyt, Addison Danford, A. L. Williams, A. M. F. Randolph, Willard Davis, W. A. Johnston, S. B. Bradford, L. B. Kellogg, Jno. N. Ives and John T. Little.

Serious Trouble Feared at Fond Creek.

GUTHRIE, Ok., June 20.—The situation at Round Pond, Ok., involving the fight between the city and the Rock Island railroad company, is very serious. The governor of Oklahoma sent a confidential officer, Mr. Madson, to investigate the situation, and he reported by telegram that in order to prevent bloodshed it would be necessary to call out the government troops to maintain order.

T. F. A. Convention.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 20.—The national convention of traveling men is in session at the Stadt theater. President Kohn of the Wisconsin division called the convention to order and extended a welcome to the visiting delegates. During the week Governor Stoen will deliver an address upon the theme, "The Great Northwest."

An Echo From the World's Fair.

The Lake Shore Route has recently gotten out a very handsome lithograph color of the "Exposition Flyer," the famous twenty hour train in service between New York and Chicago during the Fair. Among the many wonderful achievements of the Columbian year this train—which was the fastest long distance train ever run—holds a prominent place, and to anyone interested in the subject, the picture is well worth framing. Ten cents in stamps or silver sent to C. K. Wilber, West. Pass. Agt., Chicago, will secure one.

A LITTLE FURY.

A Small but Destructive Wind Storm at Chadron, Neb.

One Man Killed and Many Others Injured.

HOUSES BLOWN AWAY.

Another Terrific Storm at Ft. Dodge, Iowa.

CHADRON, Neb., June 20.—At 2:30 yesterday afternoon, with an almost cloudless sky, a terrific wind storm broke upon the city, resulting in much damage to property and at least one fatality. While it could not properly be called a cyclone or tornado it was the most severe wind ever heard of in this section. It was impossible to see across the street on account of flying dirt and gravel, while the roofs of many buildings were flying around as if made of paper.

John Fenzler, a lumberman on Egan street, ran out of his office as the sheds behind it in his yard, started to go to pieces. He ran across the street, and as he was passing a blacksmith shop one of the heavy doors of the front suddenly was torn off its hinges and struck him on the head, crushing his skull so that his brains oozed out. He lived fifteen minutes.

Twenty buildings were partially unroofed or otherwise damaged. One barn was turned around, not injuring a horse which was inside in the least. The storm seemed to be a local one headed northeast and starting about five miles from the city where several farm houses were wrecked. No other town appears to have been in its path. It was followed by a slight shower and hail, when the sun came out and the rest of the day was perfectly clear.

Killed in a Tornado.

FORT DODGE, Iowa, June 20.—A tornado passed over this city last evening and partially destroyed the stations of Moorland and Callender on the Rock Island railroad, eight miles west of here. A farmer named Goodard, living between these places, was instantly killed. Several are reported injured. Thousands of dollars worth of property are reported destroyed.

Wearers Attempt to Escape.

OMAHA, Neb., June 20.—A break for liberty occurred among Fort Sidney wearers at 2 o'clock p. m. According to a pre-arranged plan deputies sent among the prisoners to gather cooking utensils were overpowered and a rush made for the doors, but Liddiard and Captain Cormack had their men on the spot in a moment and the Coxeyites were subdued. The winners pointed at their breasts drove the fight out of them. Several were badly clubbed and the ringleaders have been placed in the guard house.

Katy General Offices.

PARSONS, Kan., June 20.—The Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway company, through Vice President and General Manager Purdy, made the city of Parsons a formal proposition last night to locate the general office of the railway at Parsons. This proposition is for a bonus of $35,000. The company will erect a general office building at once, which was accepted by the people. This makes Parsons the most important point on the system.

A Passenger Rate War Begun.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 20.—The long promised passenger rate war between Kansas City and Colorado common points broke out at last yesterday with the Santa Fe's announcement that it would make a round trip rate of $10.75 to the annual convention of the National Republican league to be held in Denver, June 26 to 28. The rate until cut by the Santa Fe had been stationary at $15.

Chase Courts Investigation.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 20.—Charges regarding misappropriation of moneys and other things were sometime since preferred by discharged officials against Warden Chase of the Kansas state penitentiary. Heretofore the warden has said nothing in regard to them, but last night he addressed a letter to the Leavenworth Times, denying the charges and court an investigation.

HATCH'S ANTI-OPTION BILL.

House in Committee of the Whole Considers the Measure.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The house in committee of the whole considered the anti-option bill, and Mr. Coombs of New York spoke in opposition to the measure. The bill was ostensibly drawn in the interest of the farmers, he said. This was a Populist measure, and as Populism was the natural outgrowth of Republican paternalism, the bill should have come from that side of the house.

Mr. Sibley of Pennsylvania followed in defense of the bill. This bill, he said, might not be according to a strict construction of constitutional law, but there was the law of self-preservation.

Mr. Aldrich of Illinois followed in opposition to the bill. At the conclusion of his remarks there remained but an hour of 5 o'clock and members were averse to splitting their speeches up in two installments, but at length Mr. Fletcher of Minnesota consented to fill in the interval and presented several letters from dealers in grain protesting against the passage of the bill. At 4:55 the house adjourned.

Missouri Teachers in Convention.

WARRENSBURG, Mo., June 19.—The thirty-second annual session of the Missouri state teachers' association began yesterday at Pertle Springs. There are about 200 teachers present and 500 are expected.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

The story that Gladstone was to visit the United States proves to be unfounded.

Government reports say that unless rains set in more vigorously shortly Mexico will experience a general corn famine this year.

A telegram from Winnipeg says: Archbishop Tache, the well-known prelate, is dying.

E. J. Murphy has been nominated for congress by the Republicans of the Twenty-first Illinois district at East St. Louis.

A private telegram announces that Governor William McKinley of Ohio will attend the convention of the National League of Republican clubs in Denver next week.

General Sanders of the deposed Cripple Creek contingent of the commonwealth army, announces that he will stump Kansas and Colorado this fall for the Populist ticket.

The military governor in Antwerp has apologized to Admiral Erban for the oversight of the authorities in not replying to the salute of the United States cruiser Chicago when she arrived there on Friday last from Gravesend, England.

The Republicans of the Fifth Kentucky district have nominated Hon. Walter Evans for congress. Mr. Evans was internal revenue commissioner under President Arthur's administration.

Ex-Sheriff D. S. Conley, an alleged embezzler of Phelps county, Nebraska, funds, who escaped jail at Holdrege, Neb., a few weeks ago, has been arrested in Champaign, Ill. He will be taken back to Nebraska.

The house committee on pensions has ratified the report of the subcommittee in favor of Representative Bryan's bill to pension widows whose husbands died from the rolls because they had remarried, and where second husbands have died or been divorced.

Richard Nagel of St. Louis, who is suspected of having misplaced a switch on the Mobile and Ohio railway, which caused the fatal wreck of a passenger train at Fish Lake, the night of June 4, has been held without bail in Monroe county, Ill., where the casualty occurred.

Augustus C. Hagan, late cashier of the American Exchange National bank, and C. E. Bartholomew, a depositor in the bank, who jointly contributed to embezzle $30,000 from the first named to even and the last to five years in the penitentiary.

Forty California Coxeyites, who seized a Santa Fe freight train at Lamar, Col., June 19, and refused to budge after the cars were side tracked, were arrested by twenty deputy United States marshals from Denver, but were subsequently released on the understanding that they would leave town and not molest any more trains in Colorado.

ECHOES OF THE STRIKE.

There are now over 1,000 miners out in Eastern Kentucky and no prospects of settlement.

In Aurora, Ill., Curry's brick and tile factory has closed down, throwing a large number of men idle, on account of shortage in coal.

The mine employes have changed their minds regarding the strike on the Gogebic range, and nearly all the miners, timbermen and common laborers refused to go to work.

A conference between the manufacturers and the amalgamated wage committee in Pittsburg, Pa., to consider the mill scale resulted in nothing definite being accomplished.

The deputies stationed at Mammoth, Pa., were attacked by the coke shakers and driven off the premises. Sheriff McCann left at once with an additional force and trouble may follow.

The Massillon, Ohio, district miners have agreed that several local mines shall be started on the basis of fifty-five cents per ton. This will enable the great factories which have been closed for some time to resume.

None of the Colorado coal companies have accepted the miners' invitation to send representatives to the conference in Pueblo. The operators say they have not received notice from the miners of any grievance.

General Manager Woodford of the Cleveland Lorain and Wheeling road wired the sheriff at New Philadelphia asking for protection for two bridges at Canal Dover. The sheriff answered that he knew of no mob nor threats and could not comply.

A decision has been rendered by the supreme court of Ohio which practically renders invalid the semi-monthly payment law. The style of the case was the state of Ohio against the Lake Erie iron company. The president of the company refused to pay the employes twice in each month.

A SKILLFUL ADVENTURER.

Sketch of the Versatile and Unctuous Dr. Cornelius Herz.

[Special Correspondence.]

CHICAGO, June 14.—A recent cable message from Paris announced that a new organization of the Panama canal scheme was imminent, the financial nucleus of the plan being a sum of money amounting in all to upward of 5,000,000 francs, disgorged or to be disgorged by some of the vultures who profited so richly by wholesale robbery of the company treasury at the expense of thousands of honest stockholders throughout France. Almost on the heels of this news has come another statement that the French government means to force the extradition of the great lobbyist and plunderer, Dr. Cornelius Herz, who has skulked so long in England as a man at the point of death. It is not probable, however, that this resourceful genius, who has shown himself such a past master in the fine art of chicanery that even Wall street and the board of trade could not furnish his match, will permit himself to be easily trapped. Chicago people are interested in the versatile and unctuous Dr. Herz, for in his younger years, before he had attained his malodorous fame, he was a familiar figure in bohemian circles in this city. Many of the older journalists and physicians will recall him without difficulty. He was a unique personality even in those callow days.

He came to Chicago from New York in 1872 (his old father still resides in the latter city, or did very recently, in extreme poverty, supported by the alms of his Hebrew friends) and was then known as Dr. Hart. He had recently graduated from a New York medical college and had considerable talent for his profession, which, however, was made worthless by inveterate indolence and passion for pleasure. As he had but little practice, his only honest means of livelihood were a small stipend he was said to receive from his New York relations and a trifling salary as inspector of the board of health. But this meager support the gifted doctor eked out by his brilliant gifts as a financier, notable even at that period. His success as a borrower was phenomenal. His suavity, which would never recognize an insult; his audacity, which was sword and shield; his seductive cunning and plausibility, were simply immense. He would beguile a heart of flint. To do him justice, however, he was as free in spending money as he was ingenious in obtaining it. He was lavish to the last "hawbee" in his pocket in relieving the wants of those worse off than himself.

I first met Dr. Herz (then Hart) at a monthly dinner of the International club, an association representing so called advanced thinkers and largely made up of socialists. Here the wildest theories were discussed with enthusiasm, and in the turmoil of dispute the doctor's voice was always the loudest in Quixotic assertion of the rights of man, the last to propose the valedictory song of "Le Bonnet Catton," which always ended these intellectual and vicious revels in the "wee wee" hours. His qualities of good companionship were fascinating, and he could tell a story or sing a ditty with a gusto that made him very popular. So it need scarcely be said that he was much liked by the jolly bohemian crowd in spite of certain financial methods which his friends excused as piccadillos. I remember one thing in my own acquaintance with him which throws some light on the man. He was passionately fond of pleasure and a most devoted admirer of stage divinity. There were at the time two quite famous danseuses performing in the "Black Crook." One of these, who has since become a noted actress, was the temporary enslaver of Dr. Herz or Hart, and as she was on the eve of departure for San Francisco he was quite heartbroken.

He rushed into my room one Sunday morning with wild eyes and disheveled hair. "Lend me $250, old man, for heaven's sake!" was the first shot fired in a tone of despair. "I must accompany Emily at least as far as Salt Lake City. She has a proposition of marriage under consideration from a rival." My answer to Cupid's victim was dryly unsatisfactory, and I saw no more of him for two months. He then turned up as abruptly as he had departed and told me he had started on the train with his goddess with only $10 in his pocket. He had managed to beguile free passage even on the Pullman car out of soft hearted conductors. He had been dead-headed at the best caravanserai in Frisco and, to cap the climax, had succeeded in borrowing $500 on the sole security of a honeyed tongue from one of the leading bonifaces of the Pacific capital. He rehearsed this comedy with an innocent and beaming self complacency which was delicious.

Chicago, splendid as it has always been for a daring adventurer, was too small for this genius. He left in 1873 for New York and was there appointed on the staff of a great Jewish hospital. Obligated to leave for some escapade, he betook himself abroad, and it was not till his name cropped up in connection with the infamous Panama canal scandals, when the investigation by the committee appointed by the chamber of deputies occurred, that his American acquaintances recalled the man or learned anything of his subsequent career.

The last time I met Dr. Cornelius Herz (he resumed his German or Alsatian form of cognomen when he returned to New York) was in that city. He was then engaged, or professed to be, to a charming young lady of a wealthy Jewish family there, and whether he married her at all or whether he is the present devoted wife who has nursed him so tenderly at Bourne-month one cannot say. He was a most seductive fellow and could make any one, man or woman, fancy black was white. Yet no one who knew him there would have suspected him, sagacious as he was, of a genius for rascality so significant as he displayed in Panama.

HOW IT REACTED.

One Man Who Tries to Enforce the Prohibitory Law Gets Into Trouble.

An appeal from Osborne county was filed in the supreme court today in behalf of C. M. Foreline, a druggist.

This case is the outgrowth of prosecutions for the violation of the prohibitory law. The county attorney caused the arrests of six jointists who were released upon the payment of $1,500.

Then the druggist took the matter in hand and Foreline had the men rearrested. At the trial it was shown that Foreline's action was malicious and the costs amounting to $870.75 were assessed against him and he was ordered committed to jail until the fine was paid. When he heard of the finding of the court he left the state and has not yet been found.
